

The volume of OTC USDT and BTC and their correlation with news mentions

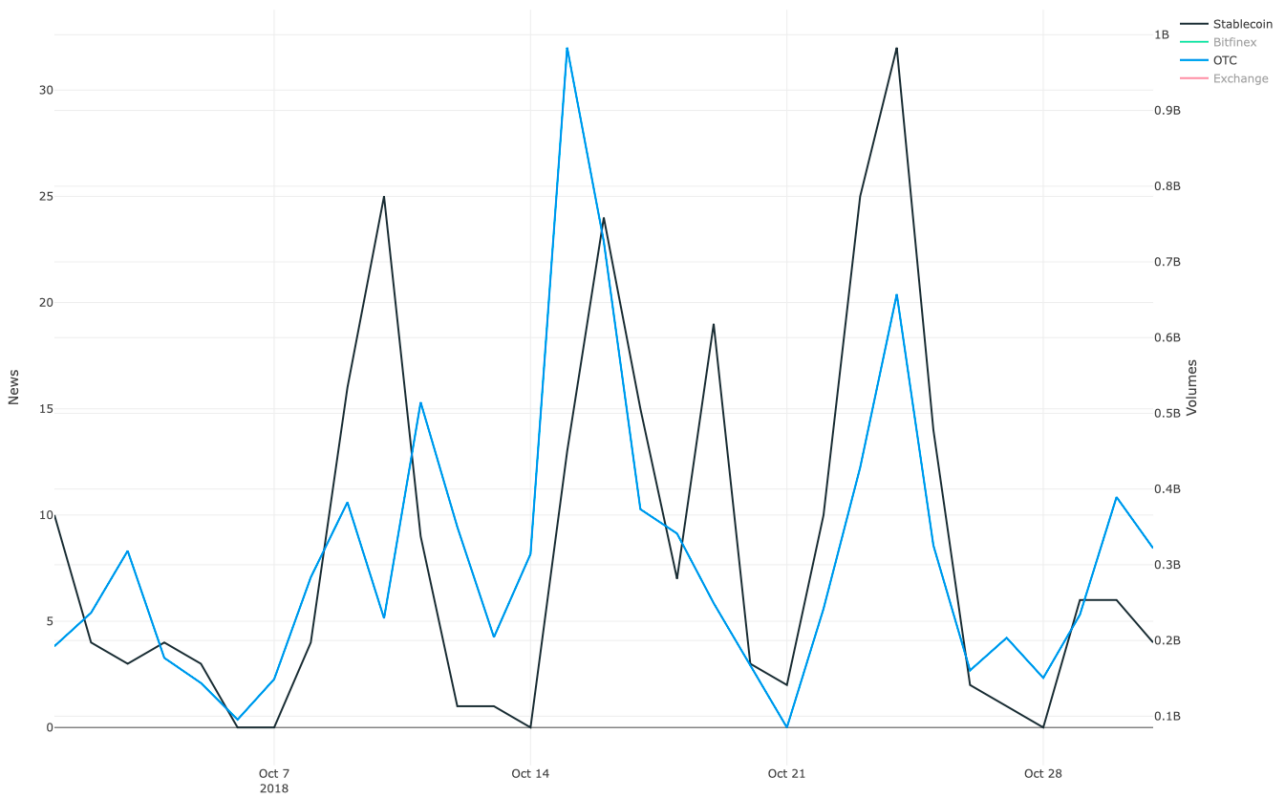

Mentions of the topic 'Bullish' in the news and the volume in the blockchain for BTC dependence

The peaks of transaction volumes in the blockchain during October usually pre-empted the news background and happened before many instances of rapid growth in volumes on OTC; an increase in the number of publications with the topic 'Bullish' can be seen.

Mentions of the topic 'Stablecoin' in the news and the volume in the blockchain of USDT dependence

There was a similar trend in the news with the topic 'Stablecoin' and the volume of OTC USDT during October.

Mentions of the topic 'Bitfinex' in the news and the volume in the blockchain USDT dependence

On those dates, when an influx of important news on USDT and Bitfinex (mid-October) poured in, an identical kind of behavior can be observed of the news background and transaction volumes in the blockchain.

Mentions of the topic 'Bitfinex' in the news and exchange volume USDT dependence

A similar situation in the USDT picture is observed when the news background and trading volume on stock exchanges are compared.

Mentions of the topic 'Bitcoin price' in the news with the topic and the volume in the blockchain for BTC dependence

Aggregated and arranged correctly, news could become a valuable tool when dealing with assets. For the case, we study the correlation between OTC transactions and USDT/BTC, and the related news background, including not only the given assets but related topics as well.